“The International Summer School on Integrated Care has given me a solid theoretical understanding of the multiple dimensions of integrated care and taught me to think differently about how health care could be provided. Participation in the course has greatly increased my effectiveness and influence within my professional role”

Dr Dana Newcomb

Children's Health Queensland

“Before the summer school, I had a professional network of integrated care leaders from a couple of counties. By the end of the week, that network had become truly global. It's easier to face the many challenges of integrated care when one can call upon the diverse knowledge and experience of others who have walked the path before”

“The IFIC Summer School on Integrated Care was both very informative and inspiring and it gave me a really good foundation of knowledge, resources and contacts to support me in my role. It was an intense week of learning and a fantastic opportunity to connect with people from across the globe working in a variety of areas related to Integrated Care. I would highly recommend the Summer School”

“To meet people from all around the globe and learn, discuss and share experiences about integrated care was inspiring for my work in this area in Slovakia. ISSIC 2017 was not only about presentations of leading experts in integrated care, but also about lot of practical work and cooperation with colleagues in working groups and trying to propose solutions for ‘problems’ in integrated care provision in different systems.

It is great to find out that there is common vision about the need of integrated care in the world and one can learn much about it at such events as ISSIC. Study visit at The St. Charles Integrated Care Centre, in London, and guided tour around the Oxford were additional value to this exciting summer week. I want to thank to IFIC for the opportunity to be part of ISSIC 2017”
